Standards

Martin's target is to offer a range of standard products aimed to the mechanical industry, as a whole.

Our core business is oriented to fulfill all engineers' requests, be it supports for structures or any type of machine alike.

The wide range available should cover, as a matter of fact, all most popular requests. Our comprehensive stock and the fact that you can buy items without set boxes, will come to help. The minimum shipment value of €150 is easily within reach of anyone, anyway.

The offer can be divided in three main areas:

Each family has several sub-categories. From light, medium and heavy-duty products, to solutions with bolt-down option, articulated or fixed stud, with or without rubber pad. Again, specific products for hygienic environments or vibration-solving solutions. Our standard options are countless.

Accessories

In the past few years, Martin has changed the way customers perceive it: from a mere machine feet manufacturer to an "all-round" standard elements supplier.

The range of accessories is mostly produced internally, with few exceptions, and is solely available in stainless steel.

This is a company policy, based on this idea: creating a specific package of products aimed at the food industry, one of our main areas.

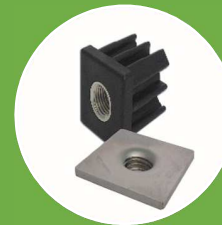

The offer includes specific products for hygienic environments, such as our Tekno-hygienic & Tekno-clean line, 3A & USDA accepted and the newly introduced stainless steel ¼ turn spring latches certified IP67 & IP69k, the highest protection available.

Specials

As much as standards, specials are an important part of Martin business. In fact, many of the products you see now on our catalogue used to be specials.

Not only customers who are regularly buying Martin products, but occasional customers too, tend to lean on our workshop to produce parts necessary for their production.

That is why we encourage old and new customers alike to submit their drawings and see what we can do for you.
